

Sawdust Spatter

Michael E. Stone

A large tree bole, still living, cut six inches from the ground.

Yellow sawdust-spatter shape,
tortured, distorted,
the chainsaw's blow out stains the bare green grass.

Sad remains of four decades' growth and a ten minute cut.